TECHNICAL PROJECTS   Portfolio: AlexLeeMyers.com

All Ball Call– P.E.R.N. Stack, TypeScript, Tailwind CSS, MUI, React-Router-Dom, Heroku, Bcrypt, JWT   bit.ly/AllBallCall
An individual full-stack project that incorporates React on the frontend, relational databases on the backend, with multiple CRUD tables throughout the application. The focus is an NBA highlight website that is continually being developed with a roadmap for feature-updates laid out in the ReadMe. Pushing for full release by Q4 2022.

GameChest – P.E.R.N. Stack, Heroku, React-Router-Dom, MDBootstrap, Bcrypt, JWT, Team Git   bit.ly/GameChest
In a team of three applying Git version control, developed a P.E.R.N. stack website. Personally developed proper user management regarding login, register, and utilizing JWT and Bcrypt for authorized access to content. Integrated PostgreSQL as the backend database along with Express and Node.js. Authorized users are able to interact with multiple C.R.U.D. tables.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Information Technology Coordinator– Bloomington, IN   July 2018 - Present
University Information Technology Services
- Ongoing project manager in developing and curating training for consultants ranging from onboarding staff in their first few weeks, advancing their skillset quarterly, to annual material. Personally instructed over 100 consultants and coached 30+ consultant supervisors.
- Implementing technical documentation and sustaining upkeep with 1,200+ article updates between internal documentation, the public Knowledge Base, and special projects for various departments, including the Center for Applied Cybersecurity Research.
- Delegate and manage IU Bloomington's on-campus staff during the height of the pandemic. Adapted to a campus-wide leadership role as a singular reliable resource for any department seeking guidance. Created and enforced guidelines for safety protocol when in-person. Finally, when forced to work remotely, evolved into an entirely new position temporarily in an abrupt learning experience.
